

Riddles Game

Guess the riddle....

Will it be this or will it be that?

In Puccini's opera, Turandot gives all of her suitors three very difficult riddles. Become a riddle-answerer like Prince Calaf! Join each riddle to its solution and then invent one of your own!

“Ice that sets you on fire
and from your fire is more frosty!
White and dark!
If she sets you free,
she makes you a slave!
If she accepts you as a slave,
she makes you a King!”

“It flickers like flame,
and is not flame!
Sometimes it rages!
It's feverish, impetuous,
burning!
But idleness changes it to languor!
If you're defeated or lost,
it grows cold!
If you dream of winning, if flames!
Its voice is faint, but you
listen;
it gleams as bright as the sunset!”

“In the gloomy night
an iridescent phantom flies.
It spreads its wings and rises
over infinite, black
humanity!
Everyone invokes it,
everyone implores it!
But the phantom
disappears at dawn
to be reborn in the heart!
And every night it's born
and every day it dies!”

Let your imagination run free and write your riddle below!

Blank lined area for writing a riddle.

